Unnamed Single Bedding Hyacinths—In Separate Colors

These bulbs are well adapted for outdoor garden blooming in beds and borders, planting the bulbs 6 to 10 inches apart. They may also be used for Winter flowering in pots; but for this purpose we would strongly recommend the use of Maule's named varieties listed on page 2 in this Catalogue.

HYACINTHS—Named Single Flowering SELECTED FIRST-SIZE BULBS

Spike of Maule's Named Single-Flowering Hyacinth

The Hyacinth is one of the most beautiful, as well as the most fragrant of the Winter and early Spring-flowering hardy bulbs. For house culture in the Winter there is nothing in cultivation more beautiful, and for the garden in early Spring they deservedly stand foremost in the list of all Spring-flowering bulbs. Hyacinths should be planted 6 to 10 inches apart. They are also adapted for growing in water in the house.

From a long list of named Hyacinths we have selected the following 14 varieties on account of their free-blooming qualities, perfect form and distinct colorings.

They are fine for pots, glasses and bedding, and we can highly recommend them to those wanting only the very best flowers.

SINGLE RED, ROSE AND PINK

GERTRUDE. Bright, rosy pink; large, compact spike, very choice variety for indoors or bedding. The popular variety.

LADY DERBY. Lovely flesh pink; large bells; very fine for bedding or forcing. One of the best pinks.

SINGLE NARCISSUS, or DAFFODILS

Narcissus are indispensable for Winter use and early Spring flowering. They are perfectly hardy (except Polyanthus), growing and doing well in almost any position, whether in sun or shade, moist or dry. For best effects they should be planted in clumps 6 to 12 inches apart in the hardy borders among the grass, under trees, etc. For blooming in the house during the Winter, all varieties are well adapted, filling the room with their rich fragrance. They are very desirable as cut flowers and will remain perfect in water for days after being cut. In describing Narcissus we have referred to perianth and trumpet, giving the color of each. The trumpet is the center, funnel-like tube and the perianth is the row of petals or wings surrounding it. Our "Bulb Culture" will be sent with every order giving directions for growing all bulbs offered in this and our regular seed book.

The large, extra fine fruit is of excellent quality. The flower of this variety being pistillate, or imperfect, it should have a staminate, or perfect flowering sort planted with it to pollinate; when thus pollinated, it is exceedingly productive. The Dallas blackberry, listed above, which flowers at the same time, is the best variety to plant (in the proportion of one Dallas to each five McDonald) with it.

Campbell's Early. The earliest strawberry. Bears a great crop of large, firm, rich, red berries. Practically all berries are of uniform size and perfect shape and ripen all over; no green ends. Carry well to distant markets.

Chesapeake. The standard of excellence, by which most other fancy berries are compared. The plants are very strong and robust and have very long roots, which make it one of the best drought resisters. Berries are uniformly large, with prominent yellow seeds and an attractive bright green cap. The berries are unexcelled in quality. The plants set a good crop and every blossom matures a berry, the last ones being just as large as the first. The flesh is very firm in texture. Finest late sort.

Gandy. One of the universal favorites, and as a "money-maker" hard to beat. A good grower with tall healthy foliage and produces large, dark crimson berries, that when fully ripe, are of excellent quality. It is a late berry and always brings fancy prices.

JOE (Joe Johnson or Big Joe). Very large, medium red, good quality. Especially adapted to poor, sandy soil. Claimed by many to be the best for market or home use. Bears from midseason to late.

Marshall. Too well known to need any extended description. This is a berry that has been so popular in the New England market for years, on account of its rich dark red color, that it is bound to attract and please customers. It is one of the richest flavored strawberries grown. It is a strictly fancy berry. Mid-season.

McKinley. Unrivalled as a strawberry of high quality. Berries large, handsome and freely produced on strong growing, healthy plants. Ripens in mid-season and is too tender in texture to endure shipment. It is pre-eminently a variety for the home garden.

Our well rooted Pot Grown Strawberry plants will produce a fine crop of berries next season after planting.

Premier. This is undoubtedly the best early berry of them all and the Premier is a money-maker for the market grower. Growers who have tried all the leading sorts for the past twenty or more years claim they have never fruited a berry that will come anywhere near making the money that Premier does. It does not seem to have any weak points. Whether you want a berry for your home table, local market or for long distance shipping you cannot afford to overlook Premier. It begins ripening with the early sorts and lasts until most of the mid-season sorts are through.

Lupton. A large bright red berry which retains its color after being picked. Brings the highest market prices and is a fine shipper. Late.

Senator Dunlap. The Dunlap is a variety that beginners who know practically nothing about strawberries can succeed with. Its long roots go down into the sub-soil for moisture, and a severe drought has less effect on it than most others. The fruit is a dark red, with a glossy finish, shading to a dark scarlet on the under side, with prominent yellow seeds that look like gold embedded in highly colored wax. The meat is bright red all through and exceedingly juicy. A medium size, very productive, mid-season berry.

Sharpless. An old and well known berry, especially desirable in home gardens. Fruit large and of excellent quality. Midseason.

Success. One of the finest early berries for the home garden; large, sweet and delicious. Midseason.

Wm. Belt. A handsome berry, which begins to ripen quite early and continues to yield for a longer period than most others. Next to the Joe probably the best flavored of any strawberry.

EVERBEARING STRAWBERRIES

(See Prices Below)

Bear from June till Thanksgiving.

Progressive. This is generally considered the best of them all. Produces immense crops of medium size berries of the very highest flavor, even better than most of the "June only" varieties. If you have never grown strawberries of any sort you will be safe in planting these.

Maule's Frost Proof Cabbage Plants

WILL DOUBLE YOUR PROFIT. WHY?

Because they mature heads which can be marketed two to three weeks earlier than your home grown plants and you get early market prices

WE BEGIN SHIPMENTS OF THESE PLANTS DECEMBER 1st, 1922, AND CONTINUE SHIPPING UNTIL MAY 1st, 1923

Order your plants for delivery about six weeks earlier than you would set out home grown plants

Our plants are grown, from the best strains of seed, in the south where the soil and climatic conditions are just suited for growing tough, hardy, frost proof cabbage plants. Plants are ready for shipment when from eight to ten weeks old, the buds are then purple and the outer leaves a reddish brown; when in this condition they can be shipped to territory farther north and planted in the open ground a month to six weeks earlier than home grown hot bed or cold frame plants. The top of the plant does not grow until your regular spring weather opens up, but the roots grow from the time the plants are set. They have stood a temperature of eight to ten degrees above zero without injury; the land freezing or the plants being covered with ice, sleet and snow did not affect them. Headed cabbage is ready ten days to three weeks earlier than from any other plants. Frost proof cabbage plants may be shipped to any point where they will arrive within four or five days, by parcel post, and should be planted four to six weeks earlier than home grown plants. The plants will be somewhat wilted and have a hard stunted look when received which will be disappointing to persons who have never used them before. Regardless of their appearance, however, they will produce the results.

Order early and state about what date you wish your plants sent. We will ship just as near the time desired as weather and other conditions permit, but

PLEASE REMEMBER

Your order must first be sent from our offices in Philadelphia to our growing station in the south, and it will take several days to reach there after we send it. Plants cannot be pulled and shipped in rainy or freezing weather, when wet they heat too rapidly. We sometimes have a week or ten days of continued wet weather which prevents shipment. Your order will be accepted with the understanding that you are willing to allow for delays, such as explained above, over which we have absolutely no control.
